

What's happening? « Far Beyond The Stars

Written by Everett Bogue | Follow me on Twitter.

A lot of people don't know what's going on, so I thought I might try and convey it to you.

The Internet killed the Gatekeepers and made it possible to connect with anyone anywhere in the world.

This enabled like-minded individuals to speak to each other across all borders effortlessly, without censorship.

So, for the first time in the history of the human race, the people who actually get it — the ones who are awake,— are able to organize themselves to save the future of the human race.

Ideas don't come from the individual, they come from the formation of a collective. I'm just funneling the ideas of my collective whole, and you are to pass them on. There are no boundaries for ideas.

If you want to see evidence of the above statement, check out Chris Anderson of TED's latest talk. Technology is accelerating innovation.

The good ideas spread, the bad ideas die.

This feedback loop is accelerating toward escape velocity.

In the near future...

We will end poverty (both the 5-bedroom 2-car TV-enslavement in the 1st world and the we-can't-eat in the 3rd)

Will will destroy the corporations that led us to this place of advertising enslavement.

We will recognize that we're in this together. We brought us to this place, and we will take us to the future.

We will find freedom and also harmony for all. Across all borders, ideals, and end all conflicts.

This is why minimalism is blowing up right now, because it is the truth, because it brings about freedom for all.

This has been tried before, but before we didn't have the tools without boundaries.

They can't stop us now.

Are you alive? Prove it.

Excerpted from What's happening? « Far Beyond The Stars | Augmented Humanity, Second Selves, and Cybernetic Yoga

<http://www.farbeyondthestars.com/whats-happening/>

READABILITY — An Arc90 Laboratory Experiment <http://lab.arc90.com/experiments/readability>